* DEN Group Codes 65 and 68

EARN 2X POINTS

On MAHLE Original Gaskets
MOG All Group Codes

Engineered by MAHLE Aftermarket, employs "application engineering" to design engine gaskets as a system. This involves research and testing to apply the optimum mix of materials and technology to each engine application. MAHLE Original gaskets offers a variety of specialized gaskets, including MLS (Multi-layered steel), solid core composite, and graphite head gaskets. MAHLE also has the latest sealing technologies for valve cover gaskets. Molded rubber gaskets have no joints, increasing durability and sealants are not required. Over tightening is prevented due to compression limiters and there is no torque loss or shrinkage. With unsurpassed standards of innovation and quality, MAHLE gaskets meet the most demanding conditions including drastic temperature extremes, high internal pressures and coolants and lubricants of every description.

EARN 2X POINTS

On Spectra Premium Products
STP Group Codes 10, 15, 20, 30 and 50 &
HNC Group Codes 20, 25, 30, 40 and 50

Spectra Premium innovates from the early stages of the design process to the final-product manufacturing. We provide solutions to new challenges, bolster existing products and aim to alleviate our clients' hurdles to their production and growth.

EARN 2X POINTS

On NAPA Temp A/C Kits
ACK Group Codes 15, 20, 25 and 70

Those with "NAPA Know How" understand that performing a complete A/C repair is more than just replacing the Compressor; it takes the experience to know that changing the Drier and Expansion Device sometimes does not solve the problem. Today's high-efficiency Automotive A/C systems utilize incredibly small internal passageways to carry refrigerant through the system, and in some instances, the refrigerant pathways inside the condenser are no larger than a pin-hole, making it incredibly difficult to – if not impossible – to flush.
